From the desk of Cory Klabunde Construction update

Over the last four months, DaVinci Academy has almost doubled its building space. We have added six new classrooms, a gym with a large stage, a new music room, a larger kitchen, changing rooms in the gym, several offices, and a large storage area. We have also remodeled existing space, adding a large special education classroom, a new media center/computer lab, a music room, and staff lounge. This large construction project is winding down and the majority of the work is completed. Currently contractors are in the building performing a "punch list". These are items that still need to be finished or items that need to be corrected before the general contractor and owner will sign off for the final payments.

The DaVinci Academy Facilities Committee has been and will continue to meet about facility needs. We still have a small amount of our construction budget to use for construction items. We are in the process of possibly adding a forty-foot horizontal climbing wall, stage lighting for concerts and plays, and some smaller items for the building and grounds.

The students have been able to utilize the new gym for physical education. Students also have used the gym for lunch. The larger space for lunch has really been nice for everyone. We have been able to spread the tables out and the students and staff have more room to move around each table. One hundred sixty lockers have been moved into the building for the students in grades six through eight. We are hoping that they will be able to use these lockers after Thanksgiving break. These lockers have been in storage for over two years and need a good cleaning before students will be able to use them. We are looking for volunteers to help clean the lockers. If the cleaning is done sooner than Thanksgiving, students will be able to use them sooner.

If you have been in the parking lot recently, all of the semi-trailers are gone and it is amazing how much space they took up over the last four months! Next week the parking lot will have its last cleaning.

Lastly, I would like to thank everyone for their patience during the construction project. Everyone-- parents, students, staff and visitors -- have been fantastic!!
